A Category All Our Own | School websites

Schools have a lot of options when they are ready to update their website, but they all seem to fall into one of two categories; templated or custom. Unfortunately these two options often leave schools either wishing they could have something more unique or stuck with a big bill and limited upgrade options. You can think of Schools By Floodlight as the third category: templated features with custom design and custom pricing that saves your district money. This means the look and feel of your site is unique to you, while leveraging functionality that most schools want and need.

District 59 Case Study | Our Process

From the very beginning of the project, both District 59 and SBF agreed that a defined process would benefit both parties. Not only would it inform next steps, but it would help District 59 explain the project's progression to the School Board and members of the community. The following were key steps their process.

- Discovery: District 59 used this time to flush out what type of features would be most effective for their site, saving them time on changes.
- Branding Consulting: this time was used to create new mascot art and establish a look and feel that would be consistent across all their schools' sites.
- Content Planning: knowing this step was coming allowed District 59 to plan ahead as this step is time intensive and best started at the beginning of the redesign process.

District 59 Case Study | Technology

Working along side District 59's IT department was a key objective for SBF. We wanted to ensure that the transition from their previous site went smoothly and all technical concerns were addressed.

- Domain name management: we worked with DNS registrars to ensure the URLs for all sites were loading properly at launch.
- LDAP Integration: we worked with internal IT to ensure our cloud-based hosting could securely access the district's directory for integration with the website.
- We evaluated and implemented security protocols to ensure secure site logins and robust defense against DDoS attacks.
- We evaluated website usage spikes and built custom caching mechanisms to handle frequently accessed content.
